Content Beyond the hills that shut me in,
I heard the sound of lator,
World's wee and pain and sorrow, loo,
Seemed struggling with its neighbor,
For Love seemed dead, and Peace had fled
For off to fields Elysian,
And might was right, and strength was law—
Such was the earthly vision.

My soul was silrred, I prayed, " Let me

Do some great work so purely:
To right life's wrongs, that I may know
That I have loved life surely."
My lips sent lorth this cager cry,
The while my heart losat laster,
"For some great deal to prove my love,
Eend me, send me, My Master."

But every path was hedged with thorns,
My hands were torn and bleeding;
Euch gate was barrel, and hope, ill-starrel,
Was from my heart receiling.
Night came on, within the vailey's rim
The source of poin and source
